HUMAN RESOURCE CONCLAVE – 2024

Exploring HR trends for potential career pathways

HR Conclave Held at K. S. School of Engineering and Management by Department of MBA in Association with K. S. Research and Innovation Foundation

This HR conclave is organized by college to bring together industry experts to share their insights and experiences on the topic related to trends in HR and aimed at fostering discussions on contemporary HR practices and innovations.

Mr. veerapaji B Shivanna and Mr. Naveen prasad, both are esteemed guest successfully take over the session.

The session was initiated by Mr. Naveen Prasad, HR Manager, L&D Section, HR & Admin Dept Toyota Kirloskar Auto parts private ltd. He led the way with his expertise and delivered insightful presentation on evolution in HR management including how employee engagement to employee experience, data entry to data analytics and also he briefed about automobile industry, challenges for India and industry challenges like changing customer preferences, technology advancement and sustainable impact. He also mentioned the expectation from HR professionals and opportunities available for HR professionals in future.

Throughout his address, Naveen Prasad encouraged us to embrace lifelong learning, foster collaborative relationships with stakeholders, and leverage data analytics.

Overall, Naveen Prasad's insightful presentation was thought-provoking and informative conclave, inspiring us to navigate the complex and dynamic HR landscape.

Following Naveen Prasad's enlightening session, Veerapaji B Shivanna shared his valuable experiences and insights. He started session with an activity, where he asked us to form a group to illustrate the importance of teamwork, inclusion, and effective communication. By engaging in this activity helps us in experience the value of collaboration, active listening, and diverse perspectives in achieving common goals. Through this interactive approach, Veerapaji encouraged individuals to step out of their comfort zones, foster meaningful connections, and embrace the strength of collective problem-solving. He also assigned the exercise of solving a case study, where teams applied their newfound insights to develop innovative solutions, demonstrating the power of inclusive teamwork in driving success. And also highlighted the importance of technology adoption, socializing the problem, and be aware of what others doing to understand the competition.

This conclave also featured a panel discussion with these industry experts where the panelists deliberated on a wide range of topics related to HR evolution, opportunities, skillsets required in HR, & many more.

We had an opportunity to engage in these interactive sessions conducted by HR professionals. Overall, it was a resounding success, leaving us inspired and better equipped to navigate the future of human resource management.

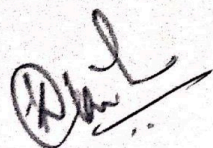

I would like to extend my sincere gratitude to Prof. Manjunatha.S, HOD of MBA department and prof. Kokila kulkarni & prof. chandana priya on behalf of Students of MBA department for organizing the HR Conclave, a truly enriching experience for us students. Your efforts to provide us with a platform to learn from industry experts and network with peers are truly appreciated.

The conclave was a resounding success, and we benefited immensely from the insightful sessions and interactive activities. We would like to request more such conclaves focused on different specializations, allowing us to expand our knowledge and skills in various areas.

Thank you once again for your tireless efforts, and we look forward to many more informative and engaging events in the future.
